EACH HIGHLY INFORMATIVE EXCURSION is escorted personally by "Uncle Jack" Christensen who resided in this district during the decade of the 1970s when Barack Obama lived here -- a locale familiar to your guide since the mid-1950s. The tour originated in October, 2008 at the height of the presidential campaign and continues to be given monthly for the general public and privately by special arrangement for individuals sincerely interested in knowing more about the background of our Nation's forty-fourth Commander In Chief.

ACCURATE BIOGRAPHIC FACTS are narrated chronologically at certain sites in the Punahou and Pāwa'a and Makiki districts which formed the Hawai'i Nei (immediate environment) during much of the boyhood and all teen-age years of "Barry" Obama, as he was known at that time.

SEE THE HOSPITAL where Barack Hussein Obama, Jr. came into the world on August 4, 1961 and the apartment building where he stayed with his maternal grandparents during most of the years he attend Punahou School. A short block away from its beautiful campus there's a smaller apartment building where "Barry" lived for three years with his mother and half sister, Maya, who is ten years younger. Our look-and-learn outing also goes past a Baskin-Robbins Store where Obama worked part-time, and we pause alongside the basketball courts at Washington Public School where he sometimes practiced his favorite sport.

OF COURSE many features of the area have changed since young "Barry" departed in 1979 to pursue his higher education and amazing career. However, much remains the same throughout our retrospective glimpse into the "Hawaiian years" of this now world famous personage.
